A simple solution for complex security challenges

The modern work environment has become increasingly complex with multiple cloud environments and thousands of endpoints, applications, and identities. As companies shift toward remote and hybrid work, visibility across security systems has become hazier and it can be difficult to identify and respond to threats. Difenda's Managed Detection and Response (MDR) is a SecOps-as-a-service offering that provides 24/7 threat detection and response services on behalf of customers by leveraging Microsoft Security technologies.

Discover an integrated threat-hunting and incident response solution with Difenda and Microsoft

Detect and identify threats

Identify hidden threats, build detection use cases, and deploy updates. Understand threats to your industry or geography through curated threat bulletins.

Respond to threats

Contain threats faster with continuously managed threat investigation and response. Automatically analyze events, identify threats, and respond accordingly.

Streamline operations

Proactively alert key members of your security team to hidden threats and report on current compliance issues according to assets, industry standard frameworks, active risks, and ongoing audit engagements.

Maximize your investments

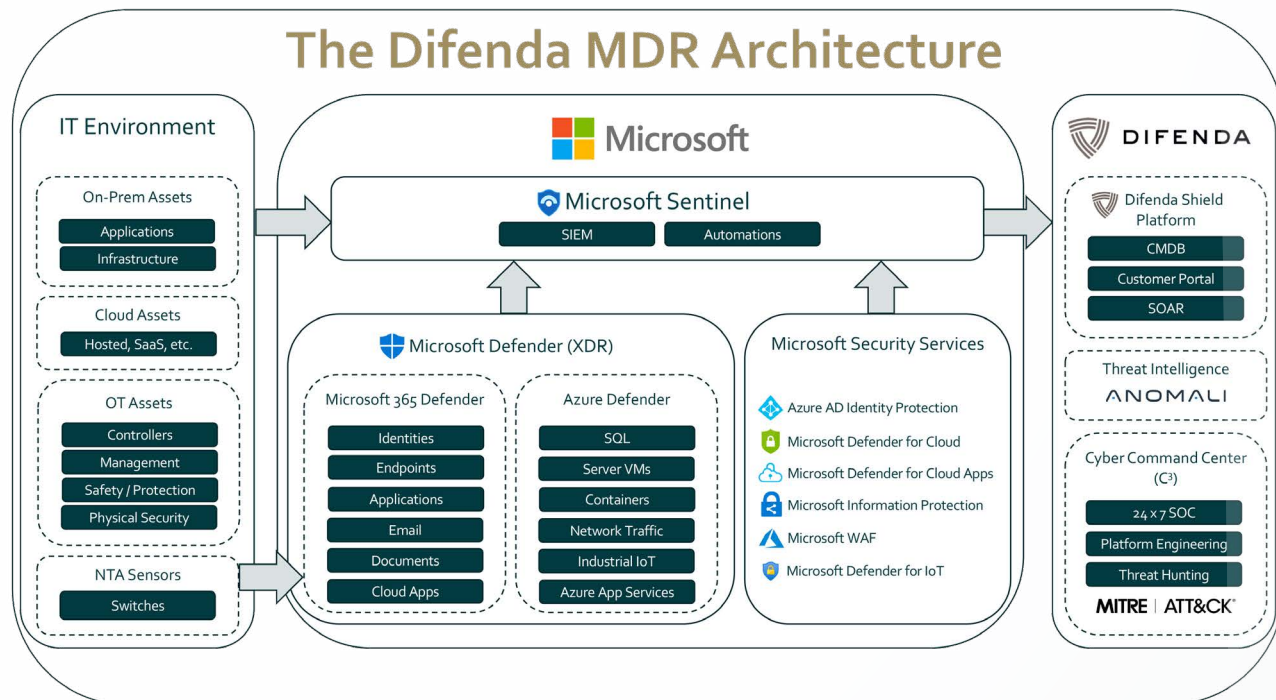

Gain proactive and ongoing protection with MDR, powered by the Microsoft Security Platform, and use available security features in an easily accessible way.

Canadian Corporation, a large retail business in Ontario, was able to achieve 100% cybersecurity cloud adoption in 90 days with Difenda MDR.*
